off beat irreverent and subversive a jewish family memoir about convenient delusions and unsayable truths from the acclaimed author of the cult classic novel submarine the best book i ve read in the past year a masterpiece financial times a slippery marvel and a quixotic voyage into the heart of 20th century darkness observer poignant and profound comic and unconventional and genuinely searingly meaningful the new york times joe dunthorne had always wanted to write about his great grandfather siegfried an eccentric scientist who invented radioactive toothpaste and a jewish refugee from the nazis who returned to germany under cover of the berlin olympics to pull off a heist on his own home the only problem was that siegfried had already written the book of his life an unpublished two thousand page memoir so dry and rambling that none of his living descendants had managed to read it and as it turned out when joe finally read the manuscript himself it told a very different story from the one he thought he knew thus begins a mystery which stretches across the twentieth century and around the world from berlin to ankara new york glasgow and eventually london a mystery about the production of something much more sinister than toothpaste on the trail of one jolly grandpa with a patchy psychiatric history and an encyclopaedic knowledge of poison gases joe dunthorne is forced to confront the uncomfortable questions that lie at the heart of every family can we ever understand where we come from is every family in the end a work of fiction and even if the truth can be found will we be able to live with it children of radium is a remarkable searching meditation on individual and collective inheritance witty and wry deeply humane and endlessly surprising it considers the long half life of trauma the weight of guilt and the ever evasive nature of the truth for readers of roddy doyle nick hornby and mark haddon the adulterants is a piercingly funny and cringingly poignant take on how hard it is to grow up and how hard it is when you don t ray morris is a tech journalist with a forgettable face a tiresome manner a small but dedicated group of friends and a wife garthene who is pregnant he is a man who has never been punched above the neck he has never committed adultery with his actual body he has never been caught up in a riot nor arrested nor tagged by the state nor become an international hate figure not until the summer of 2011 when discontent is rising on the streets and within his marriage ray has noticed none of this not yet the adulterants would be a coming of age story if its protagonist could only forget that he is thirty three years old throughout a series of escalating catastrophes our deadpan antihero keeps up a merciless mental commentary on the foibles and failings of those around him and the vicissitudes of modern urban life internet trolls buy to let landlords open marriages and the threat posed by more sensitive men but the wonder of the adulterants is how we feel ourselves rooting for ray even as we acknowledge that he deserves everything he gets
