introduction to petroleum seismology seg investigations in geophysics series no 12 by luc t ikelle and lasse amundsen provides the basic theoretical and practical background needed to tackle present and future challenges of petroleum seismology especially those related to seismic data acquisition and imaging and to reservoir characterization and monitoring the first part of the book evolves from first principles of physics to the fundamentals of elastodynamic wave propagation the building blocks for seismic analysis the second part discusses modern developments in petroleum seismology such as multicomponent data multiple elimination amplitude variation with offset and azimuth analysis and inversion anisotropy and linear anelasticity aspects of fourier and wavelet representations of seismic signals and the fundamentals of higher order statistics for analyzing seismic signals also are treated a village of poetry inside safe kept sacred whispers some templars had begun to built scribes monumental structures that drunk on rivers of ink and slowly splurled onto a large white canvas before the town square the people stared at it day by day as it slowly and steadily curved and carved dark forms into being the ink machine it worked with no hands and people called it god the skeptics laughed although being jealous of the zealous templars who attended to the colossal pen s canvas day and night a small village with a thousand thoughts forgotten only if they really knew a village of poetry sprouted from many things my loneliness and a friend who said i might compile it in case the robots crushed all the binary to broth all of the bitter longing sweet poetry that i was fortunate enough to have flowed out of me all art is prophetic more than the author so is this village and its storm of words if you welcome hope you do stay and i hope you get the chance to meet people familiar or maybe even yourself here the oxford english literary history is the new century s definitive account of a rich and diverse literary heritage that stretches back for a millennium and more each of these groundbreaking volumes offers a leading scholar s considered assessment of the authors works cultural traditions events and ideas that shaped the literary voices of their age the series will enlighten and inspire not only everyone studying teaching and researching in english literature but all serious readers a collection that combines academic reflections on ghost stories from the 17th century to the ghosts in the machine this work associates primary texts with anglo american narratives even when these belong to the chinese or african tradition as in the case of the american appropriation of zhang yimou s adaptation of raise the red lantern as liminal beings ghosts seem particularly appropriate to define question or challenge hybrid cultures where several seemingly irreconcilable identities coexist the present volume wonders how they manifest themselves in the english speaking world and whether there is a specifically postcolonial kind of haunting the twenty two articles deal with textual translational or historical ghosts and take us to canada australia africa india or the caribbean poems by gerry turcotte literally haunt the volume which thus juxtaposes theory and practice in a dynamic and fruitful way
