somewhere in northern africa an intrepid traveler awakens with a mysterious mark on her hand that soon develops into a detailed macabre map spreading across her skin as lydia s journal entries unfold complete with fold out maps photos and drawings the reader becomes drawn into the conundrum of the tattooed map as lydia herself 133 illustrations 65 in color whether they graphically depict an individual s or a community s beliefs express the defiance of authority or brand marginalized groups tattoos are a means of interpersonal communication that dates back thousands of years evidence of the tattoo s place in today s popular culture is all around in advertisements on the stereotypical outlaw character in films and television in supermarket machines that dispense children's wash away tattoos and even in the production of a tattooed Barbie doll this book explores the tattoo's role primarily as an emblem of resistance and marginality in recent literature film and television the association of tattoos with victims of the Holocaust slaves and colonized peoples with gangs inmates and other marginalized groups and the connection of the tattoo narrative to desire and violence are discussed at length formulaic ways to train students in composition and rhetoric are no longer effective say authors Robert I. Davis and Mark F. Shadle scholar teachers must instead reinvent the field from the inside teaching multiwriting researching and composing with multiple genres media disciplines and cultures presents just such a reinvention with multiwriting an alternative open approach to composition seeking to open the minds of both writers and readers to new understandings the authors argue for the supplanting of the outdated research paper assignment with research projects that use multiple forms to explore questions that cannot be fully answered this innovative volume geared to composition teachers at all levels includes sixteen helpful illustrations and provides classroom exercises and projects for each chapter this book presents a synthesised framework for analysing archival poetics in multimodal literature examining case studies from twenty-first century American fiction towards elucidating the archival turn in contemporary literature more broadly Ivansson turns her focus on multimodal archival fiction here understood as works which engage with archival practices of collecting and organising both verbal text and visual inclusions of fictional and factual archival material such as photographs sketches notes and newspaper clippings the volume brings together work from multimodality cognitive stylistics and narratology with archival studies to demonstrate how contemporary archival fiction engages with archival themes through multimodal design case studies include works from Barbara Hodgson Leanne Shapton Valeria Luiselli and Jacob Garbe and Aaron A. Reed the selected examples allow for a detailed exploration of how to analyse the multimodal composition and reader experience of archival poetics furthermore these case studies also elucidate how such a framework can be applied more broadly to the analysis of fictional works thematically and structurally concerned with the archive or those that grapple with such areas of interest in contemporary research as materiality bookishness and ontological ambiguity this volume will appeal to students and scholars in multimodality stylistics american literature and literary studies
